For Immediate Release

CVR/IT Consulting LLC announces expansion of its Project Management Templates Library

Available immediately, the CVR/IT Consulting Project Management Template library now features expansions and updates throughout the library. New templates have been added in the areas of Project and Portfolio Management. In addition, many of the existing templates have received significant upgrades in both content and ease of use.

CVR/IT Consulting LLC is a Project Management services and training company located in North Carolina, USA. The Project Management Template Library now contains over 90 templates, while the price of the library remains the same, making it one of the most cost-effective sources of project templates available today.

Project Management Methodologies: Selecting, Implementing, and Supporting Methodologies and Processes for Projects (<http://books.google.com/books?id=E097-HKP0B4C>) calls Project Templates "essential to the success of any project. Templates are seldom found bundled together nicely in a box, ready for use. Project or development managers do not want to spend the time to create new project templates for their projects. Instead, they benefit greatly from using a wide variety of tried and tested methodology templates, which gives them time to concentrate on the actual project." Dr. Gary J. Evans PMP, brings over two decades of project management experience to the development of CVR/IT Consulting's extensive collection of project management tools.

The new templates are available immediately on the company's web site: www.cvr-it.com.
